1 Grandtully had asked for his son Thomas to be sent home on Thursday, 19 October 1570, [180]. Thomas had arrived the previous evening with a letter from Katherine which probably took a week rather than a few hours.
2 Endorsed, 'I raiff ye bil in ye closynn appyn for ye maur contreff'.
3 Inconvenienced.
4 Tullibardine had taken the copy of the Robeson articles so Grandtully was rehearsing them from memory, see [180] ; CSPSc, III, 363-5.
5 Traced or perused.

6 Agreed at the meeting of the Queen’s Party on 2 September, see [148], and enclosed in Sussex to Elizabeth, 15 September 1570, CSPSc, III, 345-6.

7 If the 5th earl, Robert, Lord Boyd and John Maxwell, 4th Lord Herries, could not go, then Alexander Gordon, Bishop of Galloway, and Robert Crichton of Eliot were to be sent.

8 See [184].
