

Sources of feedback and feedforward

Could any of these give you feedback/forward? Under what circumstances? How could you use it?

Source of feedforward or feedback?	How could it be helpful?
Printed instructions before you do an assignment
Lecturer giving different interpretations of a concept or theory
An answer to another student's question in a tutorial
Study tips from peers or near peers
Classmates' comments on another student's presentation in class
Comment from a tutor or demonstrator about an exercise you are doing in class
Critically re-reading your own essay
A student in the year above telling you about problems they had with an experiment or piece of research
The spellchecker

Can you think of other sources of feedforward or feedback?