3 Minute Thesis 2019

The 3 Minute Thesis (3MT) competition requires doctoral researchers to compete to deliver the best research presentation in just 3 minutes with one slide. The 7th annual University of Edinburgh competition will take place on the 27th June, and the winner will have the opportunity to compete in the national and international competitions.

You can find out more about the competition, including information on how to enter, here

We also have resources to help you prepare for the competition, including two ‘Competition Preparation’ workshops running in February. Find out more here

Festival of Creative Learning 2019

The Festival of Creative Learning is a year-long series of events exploring creative learning and innovation at the University of Edinburgh, culminating in a curated week of events each February. The programme of innovative creative events for the Festival of Creative Learning 2019 will be available to view online in late January. You will find the events calendar and more details on our website
Career Management for Early Career Academic Researchers

A free online course that aims to support research students and research staff to explore their career options and make career plans is being offered again this month. Researchers will be encouraged to consider what they want out of a career; to explore the academic career path and many other career options; and to increase their confidence in job search and applications.

The course was developed by careers consultants at the Universities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Sheffield and is open to researchers at any institution in the UK and beyond - so you get the opportunity to learn from many different researchers. It can be studied in your own time so can fit flexibly around research commitments.

The course starts on 21st January 2019. For more information and to sign up
