Formulating your own title

1. Research: Is it relevant to the course? Check your:
   - Lecture notes.
   - Reading lists.

2. Reject some topics!
   - Not sufficiently interesting.
   - Difficult to resource.
   - Too wide.

3. Limits: Restrictions on the subject matter. What, in specific terms, is your assignment about? Dates? Case studies?

4. Focus: Angle or viewpoint on the subject. What aspect of the subject is your assignment about?

Refine:
- Get the wording approved if necessary.
- Leave enough time for this.

Comment: You could use an instructional word or phrase. For example ‘an evaluation of’ or ‘comparison between’.

Consider using a quotation. Make it into a question.

© IAD, University of Edinburgh 2018 CC BY-NC 4.0 www.ed.ac.uk/iad/