

Formulating your own title

Topic

1

Identify the general area you want to write about.

2

Research:

Reject some topics!

- Not sufficiently interesting.
- Difficult to resource.
- Too wide.

Is it relevant to the course?

Check your:

- Lecture notes.
- Resource/reading lists.

Focus: Angle or viewpoint on the subject. What aspect of the subject is your assignment about?

Limits: Restrictions on the subject matter. What, in specific terms, is your assignment about? Dates? Case studies?

3

Refine the wording of the title

Comment: You could use an instructional word or phrase. For example 'an evaluation of' or 'comparison between'.

Get the wording approved if necessary.

Leave enough time for this.
